

House-Passed Debt Limit Bill Before Senate

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders plan to bring a debt limit raising bill to a vote before the debt bumps against the present $305 billion lid. The Treasury expects this to happen before the end of the month.

The bill squeaked through the House 213 to 204 Wednesday as opposing Republicans and conservative Southern Democrats put on their most impressive show of strength in the present Congress. Democrats predict another close success in the Senate.

During Wednesday's debate fiscal conservatives insisted the Kennedy administration could be forced to trim its spending if the bill were defeated—or a Republican substitute continuing the present ceiling indefinitely were adopted.

Without any congressional action, the debt limit would drop automatically to $225 billion July 1.

The House-passed bill would raise it immediately to $307 billion, then on July 1 to $309 billion, effective through Aug. 31. Before then, it is generally expected, the ceiling will have to be raised again, especially if Congress passes President Kennedy's tax cut legislation.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd of the Senate Finance Committee tentatively scheduled a session for next Wednesday on the debt ceiling.

Although the Virginia Democrat personally opposes increasing the limit, he is understood to have promised prompt handling of the bill, following a personal appeal by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

The nine-vote margin by which the House passed the bill matched the closest previous administration victory in the present Congress, on a feed grain program.

Bands to Hold Final Spring Concert

The Hope Junior and Senior Bands perform final Spring concerts Friday night, May 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the senior high school auditorium. The bands will feature sacred, classical, and popular music. Some of the selection for the junior band are as follows: Swing your Partner by John J. Morrissey, Tangotango by John Kinyon, Green Isles by Ronald Thielman, who is Band director at Marianna, Arkansas, Mission Festival by Harold Johnson.

Some of the Senior band selections are as follows: Pastoral by Clifton Williams, an Arkansas Composer from Trask Arkansas, Savatim is Created, Processional Hymn Allerseiden and The Blue Tail Fly.

The program will be the last for the graduating seniors and they will be awarded their blankets Friday night. The public is cordially invited to attend. Admission is 25 for students and 50 cents for adults.

Channel Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to have a 12-foot navigation channel in the Mississippi river operational from Baton Rouge, La. to Cairo, Ill. by 1970 have been announced by Army Engineers. The Mississippi now has a 9-foot channel, but in times of lower water this depth is not always available as far north as Cairo.

More Tax Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Income Tax Division Director Roby Boarden says the state expects to collect an increased $1.2 million this year from an additional 10,000 returns. The amount would bring to $13 million the total amount expected to be collected through individual returns. Another $10 million is expected through corporate returns. In 1962 collections were $12 and $9.9 million, respectively, from such returns.

Woman Convicted of Manslaughter

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — A Saline Circuit Court jury convicted Mrs. Mearle Kryer of manslaughter Wednesday in the fatal shooting of her husband last March 16 and set her sentence at three years in prison.

Mrs. Kryer, 50, had been charged with first degree murder. Kryer was shot to death in the couple's home at Alexander.

The jury, composed of three white men, one Negro man and eight white women, deliberated two hours and five minutes before returning the verdict.

Judge Henry Means had given the jury the options of finding Mrs. Kryer guilty as charged, guilty of second degree murder, voluntary manslaughter or not guilty.

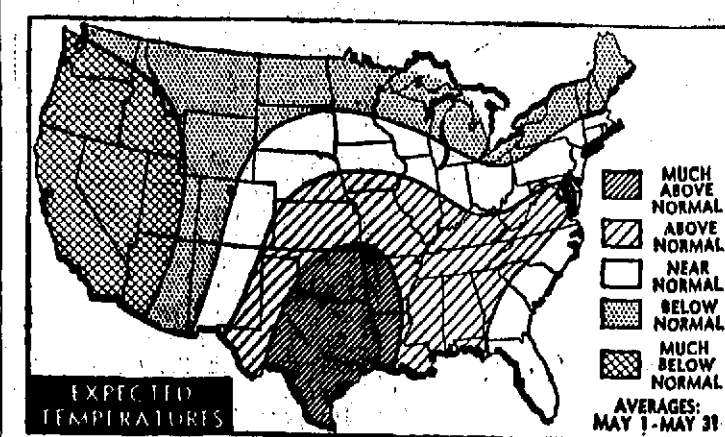

Means said he would formally sentence Mrs. Kryer in about two weeks. The state did not seek the death penalty.

Visitors See Results of Experiments

Visitors attending the Beef Cattle and Pasture Study Day held today at the University of Arkansas Southwest Branch Experiment Station were shown the difference between results obtained from cow-herds on a desirable grazing program and those on undesirable programs. The differences occurred not only in the animals but also in the pastures.

Dr. A. E. Spooner, agronomist with the Experiment Station, explained the effects of different grazing pressures on pastures, and Dr. Maurice Ray, animal husbandman, explained the corresponding effects on animals.

Spooner said that while there is no difference between gains per acre obtained from optimum and overgrazed pastures, there is a significant reduction in the gains per acre obtained on overgrazed pastures. Overgrazed pastures also tend to have more weeds and, after two years of grazing, legumes have disappeared, he pointed out.

In undergrazed pastures, he continued, there is considerable spot grazing. This is undesirable from a pasture production standpoint because the livestock producer is not deriving full benefit from his land.

Dr. Ray then told the visitors that the cows on the overgrazed pasture were four days later in calving than those on the undergrazed pasture and eight days later than those on the pasture with optimum grazing pressure. Not only did they calve later, they had a lower percentage calf crop and their calves averaged eight pounds less at birth than did those from cows on the optimum grazed pasture.

During the morning session of the program, visitors were shown the latest beef cattle and pasture research projects being initiated at the Hope Station. The visitors were greeted by Mr. Cecil Bittle, assistant-director-in-charge of the Branch Station, and Dr. E. M. Cralley, director of the Arkansas Agricultural Experiment Station, explained the beef cattle and pasture research program in the state.

Amendment Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has killed a move to attach to the feed grains farm aid bill an amendment to let cotton mills buy raw cotton at the same price paid by foreign buyers, voting 44-36 to table the measure. The feed grains bill would allow the program for voluntarily reducing production of corn and other feed grains to continue for two years.

Spanish Pupils Hold Program

Earlier this week in the Hope High School auditorium, the Spanish III Elementary Student Teachers presented an evaluation of their 1962-63 "Pioneering a Spanish Program in the Elementary Grades."

Earl Ray Murphy officiated as the MC for the program, introducing each act. Cherry Anderson presented a gift to Mrs. W. A. Williams, counselor, as a token of gratitude. Each student teacher had a five-minute act performed in Spanish.

Cherry Anderson and Ruth Wright combined their students for a demonstration of a small classroom. Linda Gibson and Kendall Yocom presented a play, "The Three Bears." Jerry Verhalen and Jeannie Lowe had their students recite the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. Pam Lance and Linda Scroggins also had a play, "Bullfight." Earl Ray Murphy and Becky Willis' class combined talents with Jancy Voss and Paul Henley's class to present the Mexican hat dance and a Spanish song. Glenda Ball and Roy Wray presented a Spanish play and recited a rhyme.

In the closing of the program, each student teacher received a disc or a key chain from Superintendent James H. Jones. As a climax of Spanish III Day, a dinner honoring the Student Teachers was given at the Heritage House at 7 p.m.

The short program consisted of a panel discussion and impromptu speeches by Mrs. W. A. Williams, Mrs. Elmer Brown, L. F. Slatton, and Roy Wray. Honored guests included Mrs. Williams, Mrs. B. B. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Downs, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Jones, Mr. Slatton, and the elementary grade supervisors, Mesdames Brown, Crank, Baber, Davis, Jones, White, Moore, and Weisenberger.

The move came Wednesday at the quarterly meeting of the group, an organization of state associations with an interest in highways and transportation.

Arkansans Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — The four Arkansas members of the U.S. House split 3-1 Wednesday in a vote on a bill to increase the national debt limit. Rep. E. C. Gathings opposed the bill. Reps. Oren Harris, Wilbur Mills and James Trimble voted for it. The measure passed 213-204 and was sent to the Senate.

Scheduled to Come Down Late Thursday

By BEM PRICE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper, spirits high and condition excellent after more than a day in space, raced toward completion of his marathon 22-orbit mission today. Recovery forces were primed for an afternoon landing in the Pacific Ocean.

Cooper's Faith 7 space craft zipped into orbit 19 in the early afternoon.

If no hitch developed, capsule reverse rockets were to fire at 6:02 p.m. EST east of Shanghai and the craft was to descend to a parachute landing 80 miles southeast of Midway Island at 6:20 p.m. — EST — 12:20 p.m. Midway time.

That would be 34 hours and 16 minutes after the Air Force major's Atlas booster rocket blazed away from Cape Canaveral to start him toward a record U.S. man-in-space flight.

As the dramatic journey neared an end, it was obvious Cooper was in high spirits. Voice reports from the capsule were crisp and clear. He joked frequently with fellow astronauts on the ground.

Mercury Control Center praised Cooper's handling of his complex space machine, especially his careful conserving of consumables such as fuel, oxygen and electrical power.

Weather in the planned 22nd Orbit landing area was reported "Most acceptable" by Mercury Control Center. Cloud cover was reported at 50 per cent. Winds at 15 knots and visibility 10 miles. A large Pacific 5th grad 3rd lead 159.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper, nonchalant new holder of the U.S. record for space flight was bound for 17 orbits of the earth today and probably will try for 22.

If all goes as planned, Cooper's "Faith 7" spacecraft will parachute into the Pacific Ocean during the 22nd orbit, landing at 6:23 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, today some 80 miles southeast of Midway Island near the aircraft carrier, Kearsarge.

Early in the flight, and while Cooper, 36, chatted his way from sunset to sunset as if he did this sort of thing every day, the earth-bound technicians and scientists were jubilant.

After describing the operation as a "textbook flight" "perfect" and "beautiful," they described themselves as "overjoyed"—and then ran out of adjectives.

As for Cooper, he dined—sort of—around 5 p.m. some nine hours after he blasted aloft with a rumble and a flash from Cape Canaveral atop a 360,000-pound thrust Atlas rocket.

For food he had aboard some bite-sized protein packed cubes which he could consume, wrapping and all, and some squeeze tube stuff which was yet to be endorsed by gourmets.

During the 9th orbit—about 8:45 p.m.—the 147-pound Cooper reported he was knocking off work for a while.

With this word the ground communications stations hung a verbal "do not disturb" sign on the "Faith 7."

However, when the spacecraft passed over the command ship, Coastal Sentry off the coast of

Reports Road Across Dams Abandoned

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Democrat said today it had learned that the state Highway Commission has decided against programming two multi-million dollar road projects across proposed Arkansas River dams in southeast Arkansas.

The Democrat quoted reliable sources as saying Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart, the Highway Commission chairman, will announce the decision soon.

Neither Hampton nor Ward Goodman, acting highway director, was available for comment.

The Democrat said the Highway Commission would advise Army Engineers not to make plans for roads across the dams, one to be located just downstream from Pine Bluff and the other north of Grady.

Engineers estimated cost of a levy-to-levy roadway at Pine Bluff at $2,370,000 and the Grady project cost at $2,910,000.

The Highway Commission estimated an additional $500,000 cost for the Pine Bluff project and an additional $802,000 for the Grady job.

The commission reportedly reached its decision because it felt state funds for these projects would not be available in the foreseeable future.

Japan. Cooper checked in with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. Said Glenn: "We had a message out around the range to keep things quiet."

Cooper: "Roger." Glenn: "Did you say you were asleep just before this pass?" Cooper: "I was daydreaming looking out the window."

At this point, Glenn said he knew Cooper wanted to get some slumber and "We'll tell everyone to go away and leave you alone Okay?"

It was difficult to tell whether Cooper yawned at this point, but if so, it was the longest distance yawn in history. In any case the "Roger" was a sleepy one.

During the 11th orbit there was a moment when doctors thought the astronaut was dreaming. His heartbeat jumped suddenly to 100 beats a minute, and then dropped back to a steady 58 to 60 beats.

After a study of telemetry data, however, the space monitors said Cooper's spacesuit temperature had risen 20 degrees. He apparently awoke suddenly—causing the faster heartbeat—reset the temperature and went back to sleep.

Since Cooper had been launched on an inclination to the equator of 32.5 degrees and the earth kept moving under him, the capsule slipped more and more to the southeast from the Cape during the day.

He passed South Africa, Australia, India, Indo-China and mainland China.

On the 7th orbit Cooper had gone into drifting flight which meant the spacecraft was rotating aimlessly through the trajectory remained fixed by the ballistic impulse.

Clyde Hart Takes Post at Baylor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Clyde Hart, 29, who coached Little Rock Central High School's track team to unparalleled power in the state, becomes a Texan this fall—taking over Jack Patterson's post at Baylor track coach.

Patterson will move to the University of Texas, succeeding T. J. (Froggie) Lovvorn, who will resign Aug. 31.

Hart will be returning to the school where he was an exceptional sprinter.

Since taking over the Central post six years ago the five teams he has fielded have won five Big Nine Conference meets. Hart did not have a team in 1959, when the Little Rock schools were closed because of integration problems.

Central has lost only two meets since Hart took over the reins. His teams have won a phenomenal 40 meets in a row.

In 1958 the Tigers' ace sprinter Bruce Fullerton was sidelined and Central lost by 1 1/2 points in the East Texas Relays. Two years later his team lost by two points to Crossett in an El Dorado meet.

Hart ran at Baylor in 1955 and 1956. He holds the Baylor record of 9.3 for the 100-yard dash, with a wind assist, and once ran the dash in 9.5 with no aid from wind.

St. Andrews Birthplace of Golf

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
LONDON (AP)—The Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews long has been regarded as the birthplace of golf.

She is the mama—hers is the hand that rocked the cradle of the sport that spawned such greats as Walter Hagen, Bob Jones, Ben Hogan and Arnold Palmer, so they say.

Bosh, say the people of Royal Blackheath. They maintain the true birthplace was not St. Andrews but a sylvan area eight miles from London known as Blackheath.

Here's how it happened:
Back in the early 17th century, King James I of England, son of Mary Queen of Scots, came south with a few of his blue-blooded courtiers for some sport.

Soon they tired of stag hunting, the popular sport of the day.

The courtiers petitioned the king to open a seven-hole golf course on the sandy ground of Blackheath Common.

James didn't need much convincing. He was the golfing son of a golfing mother. Mary Queen of Scots once was criticized for stepping out and taking a few practice swings after her husband Lord Darnley, had been murdered.

Golf soon was in full swing at Blackheath.

The bored aristocrats set up a club at Royal Blackheath in 1608. This was 150 years before the organization of the Royal and Ancient, recognized as the oldest in the world.

Blackheath spokesmen concede that golf may have been played in Scotland and Holland before it turned up in England.

decorated with spring flowers and pink rosebuds centered the table where white cake squares, punch, mints and nuts were served to about thirty five guests.

Those from out of town attending were Mrs. Charles Smith of Shreveport, Mrs. Cleotis Thomas of Texarkana, Mrs. Clifford Thomas of Ashdown and Miss Lolly Prather of Little Rock.

Mrs. McKenzie Host To PEO Meet
Mrs. Jim McKenzie was hostess for a meeting of Chapter AE, P.E.O., on Tuesday, May 14. The president, Mrs. Herbert Stephens, opened the meeting, and the chaplain, Mrs. Roy Bagley, read Psalm 93 and offered prayer.

One new member, Mrs. Cecil Wyatt, was welcomed as a transfer from the Nashville chapter. During the business meeting, it was decided that Mrs. F. M. Horton would be the hostess in June. More details about that meeting will be given later.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr., read letters of appreciation from Mag-nolia and DeQueen chapters regarding the recent state convention and the part taken by the Hope members. There were 257 present at the convention, representing 51 of 54 chapters in Arkansas. Giving highlights and individual impressions of the state meeting were Mrs. Herbert Stephens, Mrs. Rufus Sorrells, Mrs. Jim McKenzie, Mrs. Henry Haynes, Mrs. E. P. O'Neal, Mrs. C. V. Nunn, Mrs. W. E. Trotter, and Mrs. F. M. Horton.

Pink roses were used as decoration in the living room, and red roses centered the serving table in the dining room. The tea table was overlaid with a white lace cloth. Mrs. F. M. Horton served strawberry mousse, and Mrs. Henry Haynes poured coffee for 21 members.

DOROTHY DIX

THE CHILDREN

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Some while back you printed a letter from a woman who signed herself "Harassed Mother." I am her son. Having heard her side, I think you should also give mine consideration.

My mother is Victorian. She doesn't believe in dancing, going to shows or teen dating. I was a senior in high at 16. All the other kids in my class dated; so did I without her knowledge.

If I had to do it over I would have told her the truth. I'm not saying what I did was right but merely stating that there were extenuating circumstances. She was always over-concerned about my personal life and thinks she knows better than I the kind of a girl I need to make me happy.

How can she possibly know what would make me happy when all she did was make me completely miserable for 17 years? Granted that the girl of her choice is fine and decent, but so is the one of my choosing. She has always been jealous of my girl friends and expected me to stay home all of the time, claiming my studies would suffer otherwise. I graduated at the top 10 of my class and am going to college while in the Service.

I love my mother and know she did what she thought best for me, but I still have to live my own life and must live it myself. If all "harassed" mothers only had a little more faith in their sons, it would solve a lot of problems for both sides. I don't mean just blind faith but no trust breeds distrust. Sneaking leads to total alienation. Before long the whole family is yelling with ev-everybody on edge.

If my mother is so concerned about me, she could at least write office in awhile. I have been in the Far East over a month and still no word from home. Don't people in the States realize that life in a foreign country isn't all a bed of roses? It would do parents a lot of good to pull an overseas tour of duty themselves. —Harassed Son.

Dear Harassed Son: Thank you for doing what I am forever pleading with my readers to do —give me the other side of the story.

I am sorry for you as well as your mother. Having been involved recently with friends who are going through a similar situation, understand pretty much how you both feel. In the case I speak of, there is a rebellious son and a frantic mother striving desperately to wrap him in the protective cotton batting of her love.

Though highly intelligent in other respects, she doesn't see that if he is ever to mature he must be given a chance to make mistakes, to learn by first-hand experience and, when wrong, suffer. He broke away for a time but — and here is the tragedy — having been protected so long, he was utterly confused when thrown on his own, incapable of making a decision and equally in a fog about what he wanted to do in life.

His only salvation, as I see it, is to find work away from home or join the services, as you have done. But, before he takes this step which can make or break his future, he should find himself. Try it yourself: List your assets and liabilities; faults and virtues; weakness and strength; likes and dislikes; work enjoyed, work hated; hobbies and amusements. If answered honestly, you'll have a fairly good idea of what you are best suited for in life.

Maybe it's soldiering or perhaps you'll discover that which began as a hobby would prove profitable business. Once you know, channel your studies at the Army base college in that direction.

Dear Helen: Two years ago I met a man who made believe he loved me I still love him — don't ask why! Now, after ruining my reputation, he wants nothing to do with me as he must think of his wife and children. I'm desperate. Help! —Back Street.

Dear Back Street: Snap out of this! Prove how wrong the heel is by making a success instead of a both of your life. If you haven't a job, find one. But be sure it's work you get a kick out of doing. To talk of your reputation being ruined is sick thinking.

Pick up the pieces and go on. Learn to "walk proud" as they say in the South. Nothing is impossible. The will to do is the power to do. Change of environment would help. Move to another section of town or, if practical, to a larger city. Hang up on that two-timer if he phones. Return his letters unopened. Bang the door in his face, figuratively speaking. Your Back Street belongs to yesterday.

Dear Helen: Last year while on a two-day retreat, I met a boy who was an answer to a maiden's prayer. A few dates, then silence. I later found out he was going steady with another girl while seeing me. I go on retreat again this month and know he will be there too. How should I act when we meet? —Worried and Waiting.

Dear Worried: Smile, say "Hi!" and keep going. Be friendly but aloof and busy if he asks for a date. Live up to the purpose of your retreat. It is a period of meditation, self-examination and prayer.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Champions to Meet in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Eleven meet records will be in jeopardy in the Meet of Champions in Little Rock Saturday night.

Some 130 athletes from seven Big Nine Conference, 10 Class AA, 20 Class A and 16 Class B schools will perform in the meet, that brings together the cream of the state's track endeavors.

Nine meet of champs records have been bettered this season, two others have been tied, and a total of 22 divisional records have been tied or beaten.

Don Flack of Clinton is the leading contender to break the record of 22 feet, 4 1/2 inches in the broad jump. He tied it this season.

Fort Smith's Ken Sharp has pole vaulted 13 feet, 6 inches, tying the record set last year by Darrell Ward of Little Rock Central, now a standout with Baylor University's freshman track team.

M. P. Blackburn of Helena has beaten the 14.6 seconds record time in the 120-high hurdles with a 14.3 seconds clocking.

Mineral Springs' Elwood Brooks has the best time in the low hurdles—19.1 seconds. That is 6 seconds better than the meet record (set by Blackburn last year) but is only 1/2 second better than Blackburn's best time this year.

On the other hand, Blackburn's high-hurdle time is better than the record set by Brooks last year.

In the high jump, Ralph Parks of Parkers Chapel has gone 6-5 to better the meet record (6-3).

Three men have improved on the record of 54 1/2 set last year in the shot put by Nathan Myers of Brinkley. They are Tommy Sain of Jonesboro, David Cooper of Texarkana and David Young of Hughes.

Mike Hoffman of Little Rock Central holds both the 100-yard dash record and the 220-yard dash record. He has improved his 9.8 in the 100 with a 9.7 clocking and his 22 flat in the 220 with a time of 2:14. Bruce Switzer of Crossett also has run the 220 in 2:14.

The Tigers, with Hoffman running the last leg, are expected to shave seconds off their 3:26.5 mile relay record. They have run it in 3:26.7.

Chuck Hemingway of Central is expected to beat the mile run record of 4:29.2, set by Jim Cobb of McGhee in 1959.

Myers also holds the discus record, which will be in danger when big Ernest Ruple of Conway gets set to throw. Ruple has sailed the discus 163.7. The record is 163 1/4.

Here's a look at the top competitors and their best performances this season:

100 DASH—1. Mike Hoffman, Little Rock Central, 9.7 seconds. 2. (tie) David Young, Little Rock Central; Ernie Mize, Trumann; and Tom Spencer, West Memphis, 9.9.

Hendley Hurls Braves Over the Cardinals

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's Bob Hendley made like Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Koufax didn't.

While Koufax was making his first appearance since pitching a no-hitter against San Francisco, Hendley stole the spotlight by hurling the Braves to a 9-3 triumph over St. Louis Wednesday night and coming within two outs of matching the Koufax 4-day-old masterpiece.

Hendley got Julian Javier on a grounder to open the ninth, but pinch hitter George Altman reached first when Frank Bolling booted his grounder.

That seemed to unsettle Hendley, who was then tagged for a triple to right center by Curt Flood for the first St. Louis hit.

Before Hendley regained his composure, the Cardinals had two more hits and three runs. But nothing could dim the performance of the 24-year-old left-hander, who pitched probably the finest game in his three seasons in the majors.

Koufax was touched for 11 hits, but struck out 12 and won his fourth in a row when Ron Fairly drove in the decisive run with a two-out single in the 12th inning and gave the Dodgers a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia.

In other National League action, first-place San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 4-3. Cincinnati belted Chicago's Cubs 10-2 and the New York Mets downed Houston 10-2 and the New York Mets downed Houston 7-4, ending the Colts winning streak at six.

The American League leading Chicago White Sox whipped Detroit 7-4. Baltimore defeated Washington 7-1, the New York Yankees nipped Minnesota 4-3. Cleveland shut out Kansas City 1-0 and Boston swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels 9-3 and 7-6.

The Giants broke a scoreless tie against loser Don Cardwell in the fifth after Irlando Cepeda led off with the inning's only hit, a pop fly that dropped in short center Cardwell, now 1-5, walked winning pitcher Juan Marichal to force in one run and hit Felipe Alou to force in another before Bob Bailey bobbled Willie Mays' grounder and let in two more runs. Marichal brought his record to 5-3 with Bob Bollin's relief help.

Frank Robinson led the Reds, collecting a single, double and triple, driving in three runs and stealing a base. Jim Maloney, 5-1, was the winner, Glen Hobbie, 1-4 the loser.

Al Jackson sparked two rallies with singles and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly as he won his fourth against three losses for the Mets. Jackson scattered six hits and had allowed only an unearned run when John Bateman brought the Colts close in the ninth with a three-run homer.

Idle Travs Lose Lead to Atlanta

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When you start talking about those wild left-handed pitchers, please don't include Dick Lines of the International League Columbus Jets. He pitches as if he invented control.

When Lines walked Steve Bilko, the hulking Rochester first baseman, in the third inning of Wednesday night's 4-1 Jet victory, it was the first pass he had issued in 35 innings this season.

Lines didn't give anything away, and his equally frugal mates made the most of their three hits. Homers by Gary Rushing, Orlando McFarlane and Manny Mota accounted for all of the Jet runs off Rochester right-hander John Miller. The lone Red Wing run off Lines was unearned, the result of an error, a wild pitch and Bilko's double.

Atlanta regained the Southern Division lead by shading Jacksonville 3-2. Toronto tripped Buffalo's Northern Division leaders 4-1, and Syracuse defeated Indianapolis and Herb Score 5-2. Arkansas and Richmond were not scheduled.

Lefy Willie Smith struck out 11 Indianapolis batters in posting his fourth victory in five decisions for Syracuse. He blanked the Indians after Jim Koranda hit a two-run homer in the first inning. Score, absorbing his third defeat in three starts, was kayoed in the sixth when the Chiefs scored their last two runs.

Russ Heman permitted only one hit in four innings after relieving Toronto starter Cecil Butler, and the big right-hander hit a home run in his only turn at bat. Lou Johnson and Frank Leja also hit homers for the Leafs. Butler, whose shoulder stiffened after five innings, was the winning pitcher. Buffalo reliever Ray Davila (0-3) took the loss.

A two-run homer in the sixth inning by Phil Gagliano and a run-scoring double by Jeff Long in the same inning gave Atlanta its victory over Jacksonville. Leroy Gregory went the distance for the Crickets and got his first victory after four straight setbacks. Willie Taxby homered for Jacksonville.

It Was Very Tough Day for Angels

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a tough day for the Los Angeles Angels. First they were routed out of their hotel by a fire, then routed out of Fenway Park by a fiery first baseman.

Dick Stuart, who says he's worried about his hitting, drove in seven runs on two homers—one a grand slam—and led Boston to a doubleheader sweep of the Angels, 9-3 and 7-6 Wednesday night.

Stuart's heroics propelled the surprising Red Sox into second place in the American League, one game back of the Chicago White Sox, who scored a 7-4 victory over Detroit.

Mudcat Grant blanked Kansas City 1-0 on a two-hitter for Cleveland and Baltimore whipped Washington 7-1 on Milt Pappas' three-hitter in other night games, while the New York Yankees edged Minnesota 4-3 in the only day game.

In the National League, Milwaukee's Bob Hendley had a no-hitter going for 8 1/3 innings, then had to hang on in a 9-3 victory over St. Louis; Cincinnati bombed the Chicago Cubs 10-2; the leading San Francisco Giants edged Pittsburgh 4-3 the New York Mets beat Houston 7-4, and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Philadelphia 3-2 in 12 innings.

Grant allowed only a double by Wayne Causey and a single by Chuck Essegian and retired 13 men in a row over one stretch; his outstanding effort against Kansas City. Tito Francona drove in both Indian runs with a first-inning single.

Pappas, 3-0 for the season, retired 18 Senators in order at one stretch in his three-hitter. He lost his shutout when Ken Retzer hit an eighth-inning homer. Jim Gentile, Jackie Brandt and Jerry Adair had homers for the Orioles.

Ron Hansen keyed a five-run fifth inning for the White Sox with a bases-loaded singe and Dave Nicholson stroked a two-run homer in the victory over Detroit. Juan Pizarro won his third without loss, but needed help from Jim Brosnan in the eighth.

Elston Howard's eighth-inning single drove in the tie-breaking run for the Yankees, who handed the stumbling Twins their 11th loss in their last 14 games. Mickey Mantle had a two-run homer in the sixth for the Yanks.

Louisiana to Get Couple

DERMOTT, Ark. (AP)—Louisiana authorities will be given custody of Marion Lee Walker and Wanda Odum for trial on armed robbery charges, State Trooper Gene Mabry said Wednesday.

The two were captured Monday following an automobile wreck that led to the arrest by the FBI of Junior Harold Walker, a FBI man they had been hunting for a year. The two Walkers are brothers.

Junior Walker was wanted by the FBI on stolen car charges and by Arkansas authorities for the holdup of a state trooper near Siloam Springs.

Mabry said all three were wanted in Louisiana for questioning about a $1,200 robbery at Bossier City, La.

The Walker car collided with one driven by Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Gallman. The FBI learned Walker's identity when it checked the wreck, a routine procedure when a U.S. official is involved.

Hits—Wagner, Los Angeles, 47; Hinton, Washington, 41.

Doubles—Yastrzemski, Boston, Robinson, Chicago, Causey, Kansas City, Pearson, Los Angeles, and Versalles, Minnesota, 9.

Triples—Hinton, Washington, 5; Clinton, Boston, 4.

Home runs—Nicholson, Chicago, and Wagner, Los Angeles, 8.

Stolen bases—Aparicio, Baltimore, 11; Charles, Kansas City, 6.

Pitching (Five decisions)—Fischer, Kansas City, 5-0; Herbert, Chicago, 5-1.

Ing Fails to Delay Trial

RENO (AP)—James Burton Ing, one of three persons charged in Arkansas warrants with kidnaping a Little Rock hospital employee, has failed in another attempt to delay his trial on Nevada charges. A district judge rejected Wednesday a motion by Ing's attorneys to disqualify the entire panel of prospective jurors in a burglary trial.

Ing, Richard Tyler Lane and his wife Cecelia, all of Reno, are charged in the April 22 kidnaping of William Bonds in what the FBI termed an attempt to gain access to James Dean Walker, who was under police guard at the hospital in connection with the fatal shooting of a North Little Rock policeman. Walker was wounded in the shooting. Ing's attorneys have filed several motions in Nevada, seeking a change of venue on the burglary trial because of publicity about the Arkansas charges.

Eviction of Weir Sought By Owners

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James Weir of Dermott, a farmer whose land was sold to satisfy federal judgments for penalties for overplanting of acreage allotments, faces eviction from his property if a petition to U.S. District Court is granted.

Weir's land was sold April 17, 1962, but he has remained on the property pending litigation initiated by him to have the sale set aside.

Eight persons who bought the land from the original purchaser at an auction last year filed Wednesday for eviction of Weir and also asked that his motion to set aside the sale be denied.

Weir maintained that he was not given a chance to select the property to be sold during the federal auction and that the land was sold as a single tract when it should have been sold in 40-acre parcels.

Filing the eviction motion were George S. Lensing, Jack Wyly, Leo A. Lensing and Joe T. Kelly, Kelly's wife and three daughters. Kelly divided his one-fourth interest in the land among the three members of his family.

Kennedys Can Be Alone in Navy Camp

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Kennedy have "discovered" and grown to love what may be the only place in the world where the nation's first family can enjoy complete privacy.

This unusual retreat is Camp David, Md., a Navy-operated reservation atop one of the Catoctin Mountains some 65 miles north of Washington.

Although three earlier presidents used the camp, Kennedy and his family only began making regular visits this spring—more or less as a matter of necessity. But now they can hardly tear themselves away, even to go to the usual Kennedy summering spot at Hyannis Port, Mass.

The first family's newly found love of Camp David was understood to be an important factor in Mrs. Kennedy's decision, announced Wednesday, to delay her summer trip to Hyannis Port from May until late June or July.

Here is perhaps the principal reason why the Kennedys have come to look forward to their weekends at Camp David:

The heavily wooded reservation encompasses 129 acres surrounded by high wire fence closely patrolled by armed Marine guards. This means that, within the vast compound, Kennedy and members of his family can roam freely without Secret Service agents at their elbows—or even within sight.

That's why Camp David may be the only place in the world where an American president can walk for miles and never see another human being.

In addition to this rare privacy, the camp affords a wide variety of recreational facilities for the President and his family. There is an athletic field, a swimming pool, two tennis courts, a bowling alley, a multi-tee, one-hole golf course, and a skeet shooting range.

And there is Aspen Lodge, a large rustic home with a glassed-in porch, outdoor terrace and eye-catching view of mountains and valleys.

Boeing Pact Ends Threat of Strike

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The AFL-CIO Machinists' Union's acceptance of a new contract with the Boeing Co. spells the end of 10 months of bickering and three threatened strikes at the big aerospace firm.

For the 41,000 hourly workers to whom it applies, the pact spells financial reward and an end to uncertainty.

Best estimates Wednesday after word the contract was approved 11,205 to 4,688 in last Friday's balloting was almost $30-million in salary increases during the three-year life of the agreement with an average retroactive pay of about $200.

In the Seattle-Renton area, where the firm is headquartered and where about 31,000 of the affected employees work, it means that about $5 million will be pumped into the local economy in special payday June 21.

The contract provides boosts of 22 to 32 cents hourly improvement in employee rating, union security and other benefits. Present scales range from $1.98 to $3.27 an hour.

First pay raises will appear in June 7 checks. The retroactive pay, amounting to about $7 million for all the affected workers, dates back to Sept. 16 when the old contract expired. It will appear in June 21 paychecks.

FLYING WHALE—Boeing Stratocruiser, shown above at Van Nuys, Calif., has been converted into the world's largest airplane by a West Coast builder to carry giant space vehicles and missiles. To build the huge air freighter, dubbed "Guppie," the fuselage was lengthened 16 feet, diameter was expanded to 21 feet, and the cabin height was raised from 8 to 21 feet. Loading of rocket stages is done by dividing the aircraft in half at the midsection, below, then bolting the sections together for flight. The converted plane weighs 90,000 pounds without payload.

GREAT DAY

FOR GETTING THINGS DONE BY PHONE

So maybe the rain is coming down in sheets. Lightning flashing. Thunder booming.

No matter how wretched the weather, you can keep right on using your telephone.

Some years ago, bad weather might have affected your telephone service.

Today, things are different.

Most telephone cables are now filled with pressurized dry air. If a cable springs a leak, the force of the escaping dry air holds out moisture and keeps phones working. An alarm automatically tells repairmen the location of the break. Usually, the trouble is fixed and you never know anything was wrong.

So go ahead and use your phone when the sky opens up and the rain comes down. Pressurizing telephone cables to give you stormproof dependability is another improvement made with you in mind. Our never-ending goal is to improve your telephone service and make it more valuable to you.

Decision by Pearson to Be Challenged

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's decision to accept nuclear weapons appeared headed for an early challenge as Canada's new Parliament assembled today amid traditional pomp and ceremony.

No political fireworks were expected at the opening meeting, however. The chief business was the speech from the throne, outlining the new Liberal government's legislative program. Opposition leaders will get a chance Monday to deal with the nuclear

Cooper Take Naps Quite Frequently

By JOHN BARBOUR

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Call it nonchalance or just easy going, but sometimes—within the privacy of his sky cabin—it's hard to tell whether astronaut Gordon Cooper is awake or asleep. Even in the last tense minutes, waiting to blast off, Cooper may have dozed off.

Again—in some quiet moments as he approached the California coast on his second orbit—Cooper dropped off to sleep again.

Finally after 12 hours and 40 minutes in space, Cooper reached the 10-hour period circumscribed as a "don't call me, I'll call you" time in which he could rest undisturbed by calls from the ground.

It took him barely five minutes to relax to the point where his doctors could say it appeared he was asleep.

The doctors say Cooper was very near sleep, if not actually dozing at a time during the last 60 minutes of his countdown.

They watched on the instruments as his breathing rate fell to a sleeping pattern of about 12 breaths a minute, and he became very regular, and his heart indicated sleep too.

They got the same report from issue when they answer the throne speech.

The throne speech usually is read by the governor general, but Chief Justice Robert Taschereau was chosen to substitute for ailing Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier.

Forecasts said the speech would place heavy emphasis on measures to boost Canada's economy. The federal budget will not be submitted until mid-June.

Because the Liberal party has only a minority of the House of Commons seats the debate on the throne speech will have unusual significance. The government could be toppled by a vote of no confidence. Political observers generally predict that the opposition leaders will strike out vigorously at the nuclear decision announced in Hyannis Port, Mass., last Saturday but that they will not try to bring down the government.

The Liberals hold 129 of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. The Conservatives have 95 seats; the Social Credit 23 and the New Democratic party 17. There is one independent Social Credit member.

GLIMPSE OF VANISHING AMERICANA—

One of the last of his kind, Freeman Clark, of Wichita, Kan., adds something new to his sales pitch as an itinerant photographer. He employs two llamas instead of the traditional pony as his set pieces for beside-the-highway photography. • At left, Clark snaps his positive camera, with Brad Nipper, 2, of Cherryvale, Kan., aboard. At right, close-up of the lad, as seen by a second camera recording this glimpse of vanishing Americana.

Are Women Superior to Men?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Are American women really superior to American men?

Most men don't think so. Most women would rather not think so. Only people who take psychological tests think so. They like to get their names in the papers.

Recently, this column printed results of some of those tests indicating that woman, in many respects, is the stronger sex. The mail response has indicated that in at least one characteristic (temper) men are dominant.

Some of the more salient snarls of rebuttal are listed below:

1. Women are better able to remain calm in a crisis than men. "Yes? Then why all this 'twilight sleep' for women having babies?"

2. A man is far more likely to have a high opinion of his own importance than a woman does.

"God gave man a healthy ego to allow him to withstand the verbal withings of woman."

3. Women are more perceptive of other people's thoughts than men are.

"How true that is. A woman trains herself to X-ray a man's brain so she can kill his argument before he has a chance to give it."

"Because a man thoughtfully chooses his words to be sincere, while a woman says whatever sounds appropriately glib for the moment."

5. Men have less imagination than women.

"And who are the greatest writers, poets, painters, musicians and chefs in world history?"

6. Men are more likely to 'go to pieces' over a broken romance than women are.

"Because men are more sincere in romance."

7. Men do not hear as well as women.

"They have to have SOME defensive weapon."

8. In general, women are more cultured than men.

"Men are dedicated to making a good living so that their wives have leisure for cultural pursuits."

9. Women have a definite edge over men in getting their way in domestic arguments.

"Woman is more verbose; loquacious. She must always have the last word."

Some of these male correspondents have asked me what I think of their refutations since not every woman has to have the last word, the answer is "no comment."

And that's final.

May Dismiss Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

The Arkansas Supreme Court is considering dismissal of a murder charge against John Lee Nelson of Little Rock, Nelson, who was to be tried May 20 for the shotgun murder of Louis Scott in Little Rock in 1959, had been denied a motion for dismissal on May 7.

His attorneys filed the appeal from the decision of Pulaski Circuit Judge William J. Kirby with the high court Tuesday. They contend a person charged with a crime must be tried within two terms of court. Nelson was arrested May 21, 1961.

Now open your mouth widely. You cannot purse your lips.

Allow the flare of the match to die down, take a deep breath and blow!

Flame go out? If not, according to a doctor at the Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation, your MBC is below par and maybe you'd better have your lungs checked for an airway obstruction.

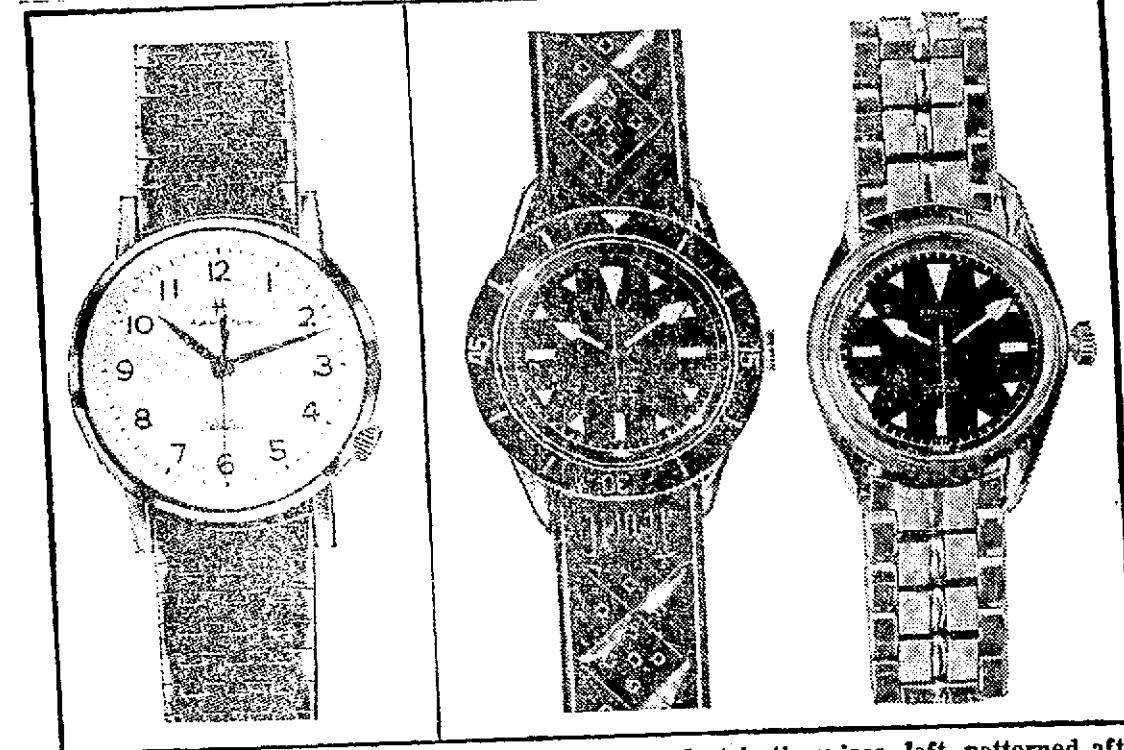

Soon as I get my wind back, I'm off for a checkup. Along with all my zephyr-breathed friends.

With an estimated 20 or more million boating enthusiasts — of whom eight and one-half million are registered boat owners — expected to crowd the nation's coastlines and waterways this season, it is not surprising that the nautical look has become a major trend in summer sportswear. Even landlubbers will be seen this year, hooded, bibbed and white-ducked, sporting signal flags and drawstrings... complete with real "salty" bell-bottomed trousers.

Red Leaders Surprised at Vote Gains

ROME (AP)—In Rome's "street of the dark shops," where Italy's Communist party has headquarters, it is no dark secret that the Red leaders were surprised at the million votes their party gained in Italy's national election.

They had reason to expect the opposite. The party has been having trouble holding its card-carrying members. Its leadership is behind Moscow, but a strong pro-Peking faction exists, creating internal friction. Part of its strength is backing from many Italian intellectuals. Yet at the height of the campaign Moscow launched an attack on Soviet intellectuals.

"We thought we would be lucky to hold our own," one Communist leader said.

The outcome strengthened the hand of Palmiro Togliatti, 70, who has crossed verbal swords with Peking and followed all the Kremlin's political turns except its campaign against liberal artists and intellectuals.

In March, as the election campaign warmed up, the Communist Chinese news agency said Togliatti engaged in "parliamentary idiocy." The Chinese chided his view that communism could come to power in Italy through constitutional means.

The Italian Reds smart whenever anyone suggests they are tainted by middle-class customs. At the Italian party congress last year one of Togliatti's top lieutenants, Giancarlo Pajetta, looked straight at a Communist Chinese delegation and said:

"Our policy is one responding perfectly to the needs of the Italian people."

Italian political experts in general believe the Communists gained through factors not directly determined by them.

Italy's economic boom had taken hundreds of thousands of southern Italians to factories in the North. In the South, they had lived in Christian Democrat strongholds. In the North, they were in contact with Communist labor leaders for the first time.

The Communists probably attracted a number of votes from Socialists disgruntled because the alliance of their leader, Pietro Nenni, with Christian Democratic Premier Amintore Fanfani had not produced the sweeping social reforms they expected.

Another factor was an easing in Vatican relations with the Communist world. In central Italy's Red belt, men often voted Communist but their church-going wives feared excommunication, voted Christian Democrat. Big Communist gains indicated that many wives went along with their husbands this year.

Italian Accused of Being a Spy

Norstad Joins Others in Big Business

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising ramrod straight from his chair, Gen. Lauris Norstad, former military commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, apologized for a few papers on his broad walnut desk.

"I've only been on the job a short while," he said, "so you see it's pretty cluttered."

The expanse of desk may have seemed disordered to a precise military man. It would, however, pass inspection from any businessman. Norstad is a businessman now.

His office is on the 14th floor of a Fifth Avenue skyscraper, where he presides as president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas International, a business far removed from military affairs.

The handsome 56-year-old combat and diplomatic veteran, is a recent big-name military man to step into a top industrial position. Before him marched Douglas MacArthur, Chester W. Nimitz, Anthony C. McAuliffe, Lucius D. Clay, Omar N. Bradley, James M. Gavin and other generals and admirals.

Obviously, despite their lack of experience in the world of profits and losses, military men are considered good businessmen. Why?

"My work," said Norstad, "was not technically military. In the service you control tremendous capital investments and you have to come up with your budget. You have a structure similar to what you have here."

Then, more militarily, the retired general explained how it was possible to work the same way within both corporate and military systems.

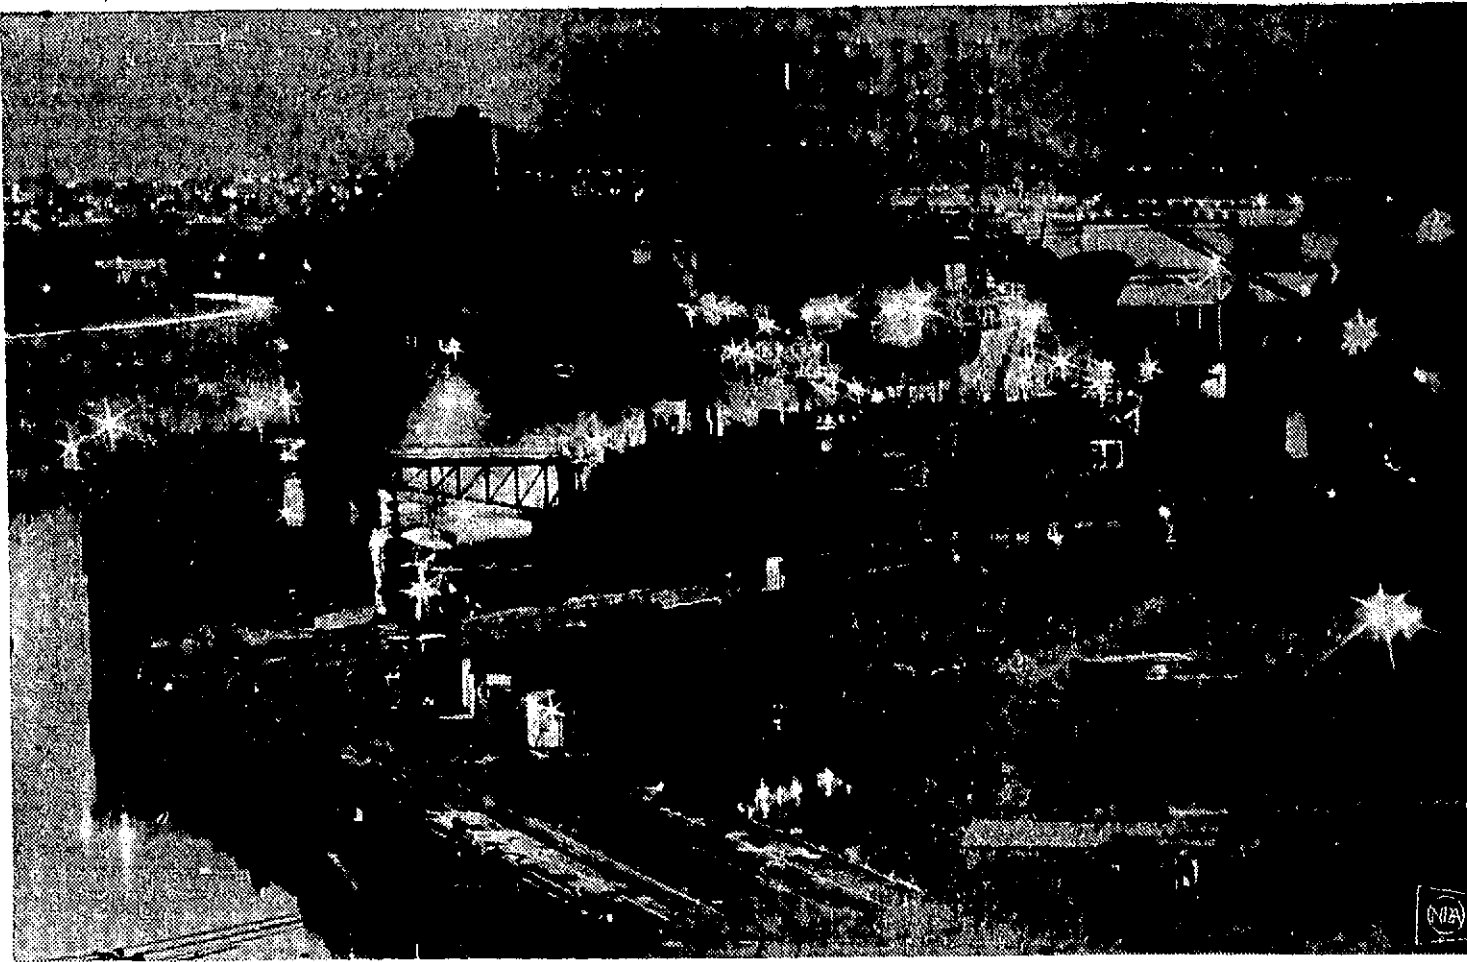

"First," he said, "you determine the facts. Then you determine the alternatives."

He continued: "There is no substitute for educating yourself, for knowing more about a subject than anyone else. I might be stupid, but I've never learned a substitute for this."

Gen. Clay, director of the Berlin air lift, former president and chairman of Continental Can Co. and now senior partner in the investment firm of Lehman Corp., explained military confidence this way:

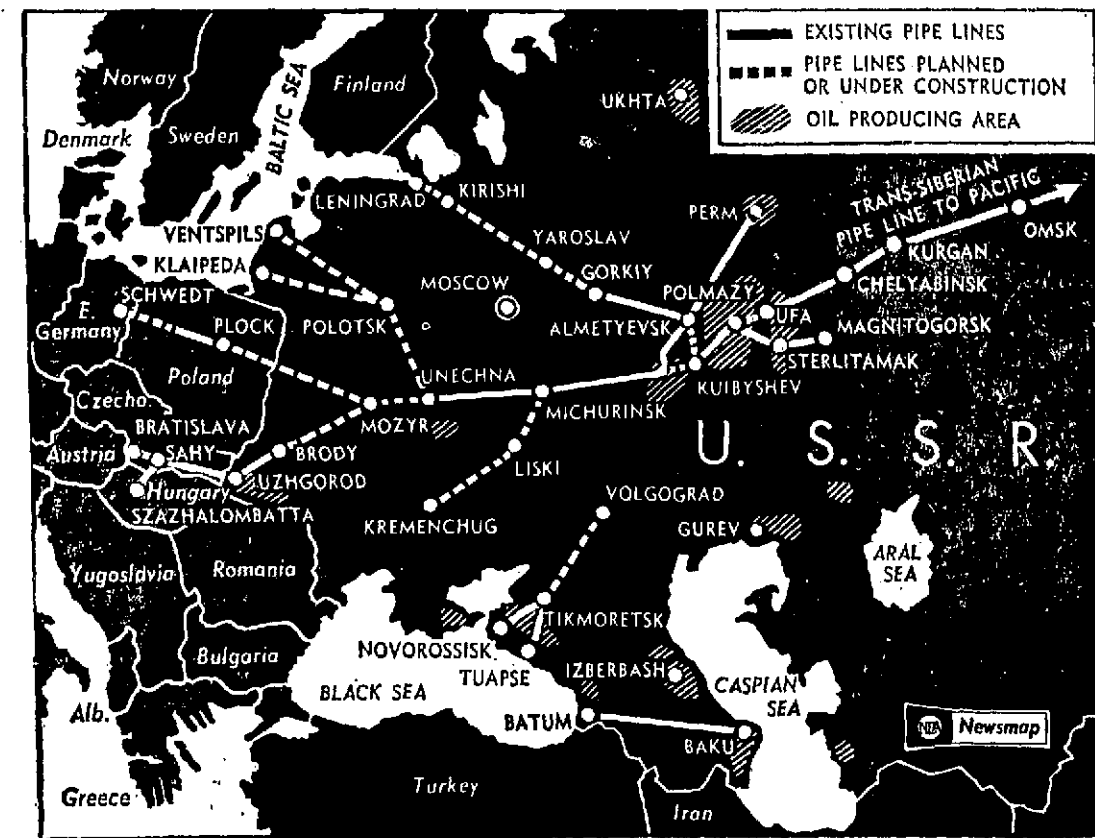

"The advantage of a military education is that you must do what you are assigned. This means that you tackle many projects for which you are not equipped but in which you must do a good job."

Gen. MacArthur still presides at board meetings of the Sperry Rand Corp., Gen. Bradley is chairman of the Bulova Watch Co., Gen. Gavin heads the Arthur D. Little research firm, Gen. J. Lawton Collins is an executive of the drug firm, Pfizer Co.

A GREAT PORT—GUESS WHERE?—Far from being a set for reel life in the movie world, the real-life panorama of harbor lights, above, glows in Los Angeles harbor. Long-time leader in Pacific Coast trade, Los Angeles harbor is BLACK GOLD FROM THE REDS—A vast underground network is being built in the Soviet Union—a network of pipelines carrying oil from Russia's rich fields to the rest of the world. Soviet production increased more than 28 per cent between 1959 and 1961, over twice as fast as the non-Communist world's 12 per cent increase. The Soviets have now edged Venezuela out of second place next to the United States. Soviet oil expansion is cause for alarm in the West, because Soviet price-fixing allows them to undersell Western oil in many instances, thus weakening Western economic ties.

and Admirals Nimitz and Arleigh A. Burke are corporate directors. Such highly informed men are needed by corporations that work with the military.

The fact is that in so-called peaceful days, far removed from bullets and battlefields, there are great administrative similarities between corporations and military units.

6 Hurt in Bus-Auto Accident

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—A car slammed into the rear of a stopped bus carrying 48 students, teachers and chaperones from the Brookers T. Washington Negro grade school in Jonesboro Tuesday night, injuring six persons, one critically.

The accident occurred two miles south of Trumann on Highway 63 as the group was returning from the annual Cotton Carnival at Memphis.

The injured were taken to a Jonesboro hospital. State Trooper Bob Cooper identified the driver of the car as Adrian Sullivan, 43, of Jonesboro.

Sullivan was in critical condition this morning, suffering from a broken leg, a broken arm, broken ankles, head injuries and chest injuries.

Bus passengers injured were Edoma Watson, 50, a teacher; Marjorie Hampton, 20, a chaperone, her children, Ronnie Lee, 5, and Rickey, 7, and Essie Rivers, 35, a teacher.

Mrs. Watson suffered neck and head injuries and Mrs. Hampton sustained leg injuries. The others were treated and released.

Cooper said bus driver Paul Lowery, 48, of Paragould, had pulled the bus of the road after two rear tires had gone flat and that flames had been placed around the bus which was jutting about two feet onto the highway.

Cooper said Lowery was trying to wave down the car with another flare, but had to jump into a ditch to avoid being hit.

Sullivan was alone in his car.

Pair Charged With Armed Robbery

DERMOTT, Ark. (AP) — State Trooper Gene Mabry said Wednesday that Marion Lee Walker and Wanda Odum, 23, have been turned over to Louisiana authorities to face armed robbery charges.

Walker, the Odum woman and Walker's brother, Junior Harold Walker, 34, were arrested near Dermott Monday after their car was involved in an accident.

Junior Harold Walker was identified as a man being sought by the FBI on stolen car charges and by Arkansas authorities for the holdup of a state trooper near Siloam Springs last year.

Junior Walker remains in a Dermott hospital. Mabry said he will be sent to Benton County to answer the holdup charge.

Mabry said Louisiana wanted the Walkers and Miss Odum for questioning in connection with a $1,200 robbery at Bossier City, La.

The FBI said the three had more than $300 in cash when they were arrested.

The Odum woman was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in jail at Dermott on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Police said she had two pistols in

Mrs. Cooper Thrilled About Son

By BOB SHAW

TECUMSEH, Okla. (AP)—"Don't you know Gordon is thrilled!" proud Mrs. Hattie Cooper exclaimed this morning as her astronaut son's space rocket knifed through the sky.

Tears were the visible emotion from her mother and the astronaut's grandmother, Mrs. Orena Herd, who rocked more and more slowly in a chair a few steps away from Mrs. Cooper.

With them to watch the countdown and eventual successful blastoff were Mrs. Herd's pastor, the Rev. Roma Stewart; a neighbor, Mrs. Mattie Harlowe and a half dozen newsmen.

"Butterflies is right," Mrs. Cooper admitted when a newsmen casually remarked that the mounting tension created stomach butterflies.

For about 15 minutes — five minutes before and until ten minutes after blastoff—about the only audible sounds came from a tiny bell and a chattering parakeet in the dining room.

Mrs. Herd said nothing. At blastoff, her rocking chair stopped; there was a faint sobbing and tears swelled in her eyes.

"Can you imagine that that's Gordon," Mrs. Cooper said when the voice of her son in the orbiting space vehicle was heard for the first time on television.

Mrs. Herd said, "I'm giving the good Lord the praise, He's directing it. I'm just thankful to the good Lord that He gave him a good start."

"Sure I'm proud of Gordon. I'm always proud of him."

For Mrs. Cooper, the successful start of the flight came just one day before her 63rd birthday.

Both women said they got a good night's sleep and were up about 4 a.m.

Mrs. Cooper, of Carbondale, Colo., planned to remain here in the home of her mother for the remainder of the flight.

her handbag. A rifle was found in the car.

Marion Walker was fined $50 for failure to yield the right of way. Asst. U.S. atty. Robert S. Gallman was in the other car involved in the accident. The FBI checked out the wreck, because Gallman was involved, and learned Junior Walker's identity.

Yell County voters voted heavily in favor Tuesday of a $175,000 bond issue to finance a 27-bed hospital. Unofficial results from 20 of 31 precincts counted Tuesday night showed a vote of 2,117 for to 520 against. A spokesman said the vote in remaining precincts couldn't alter the outcome. The hospital would be the second in the county. One is located at Danville. The bonds would be retired by a 3-mill tax.

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Fred Renfro and Charlie Martin are chaplains of business and industry.

The Rev. Mr. Renfro is part-time chaplain for a supermarket chain. The Rev. Mr. Martin is chaplain for an oil refinery.

Both tend to spiritual and emotional needs of employees and, though both are ordained ministers, both tend to be non-denominational in their work.

Martin has been a chaplain at the Sunray D Oil Co. refinery for 15 years. Renfro has served employees of Jiffy Jungle Stores for three years.

But their jobs are similar.

"Most of our men handle hazardous jobs," Martin says. "If their minds aren't on their work, they can seriously injure themselves and others."

Martin began with Sunray as a safety department worker 30 years ago. He studied for the ministry, then with company permission, began leading devotions during lunch hours and finally moved into a post as chaplain for the 1,350 employees.

"At one time or another, almost all of them have come to me with their problems," he says.

Observers in Viet Nam on Top Mission

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Special Warfare officers are closely watching developments in South Viet Nam for signs of whether Communist guerrillas have started a concerted drive to kill U.S. military advisers.

Two advisers—one a lieutenant and the other a sergeant—were slain last Monday in widely separated parts of the Red-infested country.

The lieutenant and two South Vietnamese with him were sprayed with machine-gun bullets after a Communist grenade sent their Jeep careening into a tree.

The sergeant was dropped by a Communist sniper while he was cut with a South Vietnamese patrol.

According to Pentagon figures, 36 American military men — 26 Army and 10 Air Force—have died as the result of what the defense department calls "actions by hostile forces" in South Viet Nam since Jan. 1, 1961. Another 49 are listed as having died from noncombat causes.

Officers who had served in South Viet Nam say many more Americans would have been slain if the Reds had been gunning for them.

The officers note that American advisers often are in action with Vietnamese units, that the bigger U.S. soldiers stand out clearly from the generally short and slim Vietnamese and thus could be prime targets.

Some U.S. officers say they think the Communist guerrillas have tried in the past to avoid killing Americans, possibly to keep from provoking the United States into a more direct and larger combat role in the war.

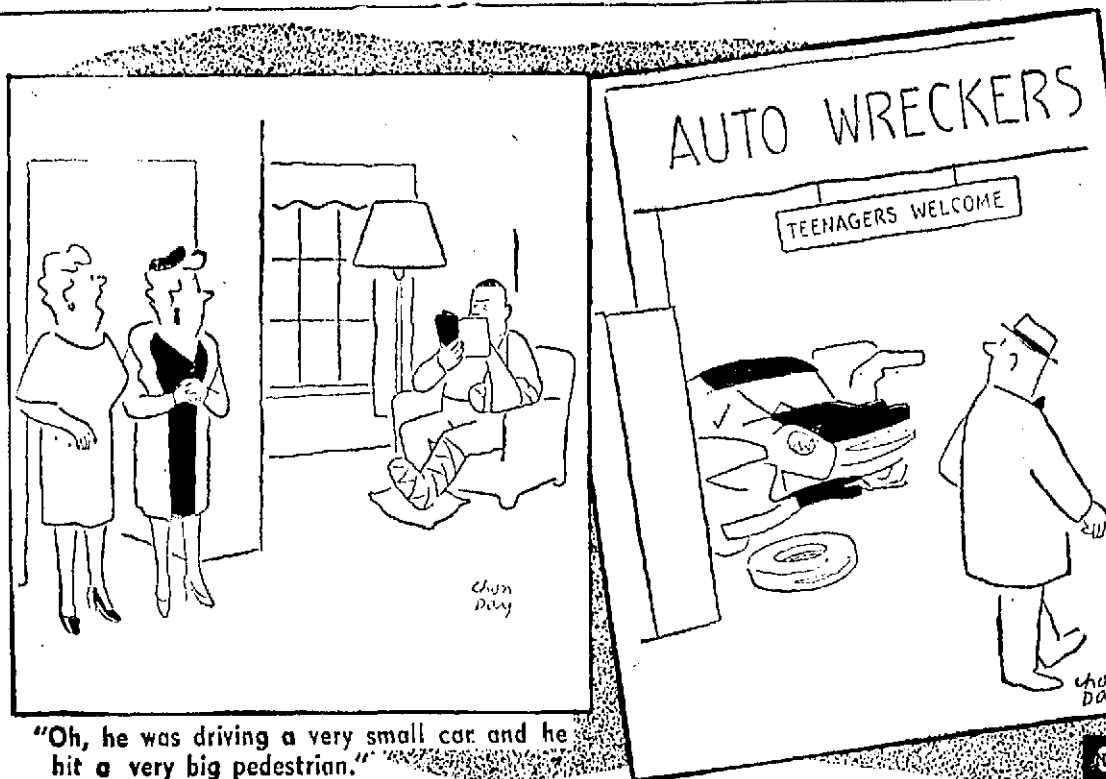

Now they are not sure this still is true. They are waiting to see if a trend or pattern develops.

At least three other Americans have been shot and killed in cold blood after being wounded, records show.

In addition to the 85 American servicemen listed as killed in South Viet Nam, the Defense Department counts 167 as wounded by hostile action. One man is missing.

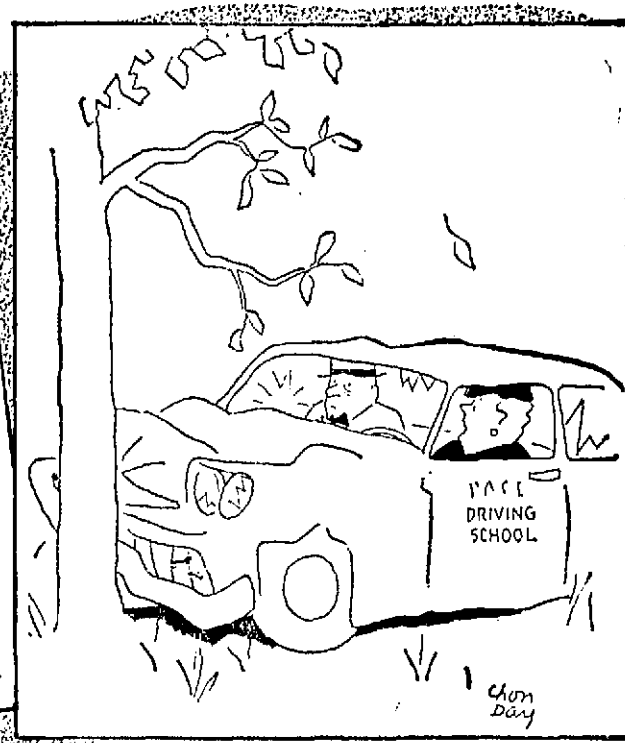

There are now about 12,000 American military men in South Viet Nam.

Cotton Planting Nearly Finished

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Agricultural Marketing Service says planting of cotton in Arkansas is nearly finished. Most of the planting was done last week, the service said. Planting was delayed because of a lack of moisture in some areas.

Extension Methods

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Agricultural extension methods in Arkansas will be studied by 15 agriculturists from Tanganyika June 22 to October 12. The men are employees of the Tanganyikan Ministry of Agriculture. They will remain in the United States five months, as part of the American government's foreign aid program.

Revive Faded Colors In Washer

It's easy and inexpensive to revive faded colors or give new fresh colors to slipcovers, unlined draperies, bedspreads, or shag rugs. You can Rit dye them in your washing machine.

Washer dyeing is not only the easiest way of dyeing, it is by far the most effective method of getting even, thorough penetration of color. Most anything you wash by machine can be dyed in the machine. Naturally the same "fabric care" rules you follow in washing should be followed in dyeing.

Step 1. Before dyeing, remove any stain, then wash and rinse thoroughly. If article may shrink, trace outline or measure.

Step 2. Dissolve dye in pan of hot, not boiling, water, following package directions. Strain dye solution, an old stocking makes a good strainer.

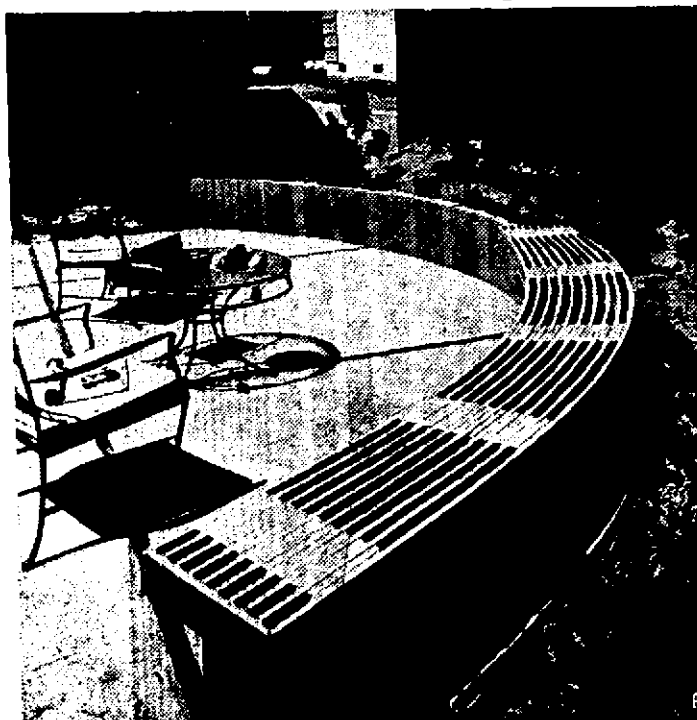

Step 3. Fill washer with hottest water available, using the same amount used for washing the article. Add dye solution.

Step 4. Place wet, unfolded article in dye bath. Never pour dye directly onto fabric!

Step 5. Automatic washers: Set machine for longest wash-cycle. Rinse thoroughly in cool water, using normal rinse-cycle; damp-dry using normal dry-cycle. Non automatic washers: Agitate article 10 to 30 minutes in dye bath. Rinse thoroughly in cool water until water runs clear. Squeeze out excess water; roll in cloth or towel.

Clean washer immediately by filling with hot water and soap or detergent usually used for a wash. About one-fourth cup of household bleach may be added, if desired. Use a damp cloth to remove traces of color.

Plan An Outdoor Living Room

Curved redwood bench tops a retaining wall to give this round patio even greater utility for suburban entertaining. Bench is made by gently bending one by sixes and nailing them to spacing blocks. Retaining wall is also redwood, which is ideal for the purpose because it resists rotting and termite attack. Redwood's natural preservatives do not harm new plantings, as do some chemicals used to impregnate non-durable woods.

You can increase greatly the utility of your yard for dining and entertaining by paving part of it or installing a deck. With a patio or deck, you can enjoy outdoor living earlier in the spring, later in the fall, and sooner after rainfall. It adds living space to your home at a fraction of the cost of a new room.

Your "outdoor living room" can have efficient built-in furniture as well as your family room inside. Combine the railing of your deck with a redwood bench to provide comfortable permanent seating for guests; or, as in the picture above, top a retaining wall with a bench, to seat your guests in one of the most pleasant parts of the garden: near your plantings.

When planning your outdoor living room, consider its "floor" as carefully as you would a new rug for your parlor. You might find redwood decking more comfortable to bare feet and functional than concrete pavement—and more economical; or you might wish to combine decking with concrete, brick, or flagstone paving.

The "walls" of your outdoor living room are also important. There are many ways of adding individuality to the redwood fence which forms a backdrop for all your outdoor activities. For instance, try using a finish grade of lumber instead of the usual lower grades—the handsome difference in appearance will be worth much more than the slight difference in price.

THE DOCTOR'S STRANGE SECRET

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

THE STORY: Neighbors agree that Dr. Howdeshell needs a wife to help care for two teenage children, but there may be a Mrs. Howdeshell in the background somewhere.

CHAPTER IV

This immediately past summer, before his first year of premed studies at the college, Keyes had been helping at the hospital. He would adjust a Venetian blind, carry plaster buckets, wheel a patient to X-ray, and back again; he did everything, and in the process he became familiar with the hospital and its workings.

"I see some interesting things, too, Jannie."

"I'll bet you do. School may seem tame."

I was sitting on the veranda steps; he was perched on the fender of his old car, probing at a black and greasy-looking something which he had taken out of the engine. "I think I'll continue to do the hospital job in my free time, even after school starts," he said.

"You must not neglect your studies, Keyes."

"I won't, teacher, I won't. But there is always some spare time."

"You should use it going to dances, or dawdling with a girl

under the elms."

He nodded, his face serious. "I'm beginning to like girls better than I did. Oh, not the screechy, pouncy sort. Nor Lovey's friends. But — well — girls. Though since I have dedicated my life to medicine, I rather feel I shouldn't be attracted too strongly."

Keyes was a handsome boy. He'd be more classically handsome than Smokey was, and I could imagine that girls did screech and pounce around him. "A pretty girl could be sensible and helpful as well, you know."

I told the boy.

"How will I know if she's that sort?"

"Trial and error."

He sniffed. "But that takes too much time."

"You won't think so when you're really interested in girls," I assured him.

He lifted his head to look at me, and shook his hair back from his face. "I know that I needn't make myself do the girl-bid in order to be normal and well-rounded. I can do things the way they seem proper to me and still have the prospect of — well, you know — success."

In the interest of setting the scene, perhaps I should tell here that I am a typical young woman, that I probably could be dis-

Questions Rights of President

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's action in Birmingham's racial trouble, whether or not it boils again, has given lawyers something to argue about.

He has sent 3,000 troops into Alabama military bases—near but not in Birmingham—for possible use in Birmingham if there's a repetition in that city of last Saturday night's violence against Negroes and the Negro riot which followed.

The question is: Does he have a right to use troops in such a situation when no federal law, court order or function is specifically involved? The governor of Alabama, George C. Wallace, says no.

He cites the Constitution — Article 4, Section 4—which says the federal government shall protect a state against "domestic violence" if the legislature or governor asks such protection.

Under such constitutional authority the President could use troops. But Wallace says Kennedy hasn't been asked to intervene with troops or otherwise.

The Justice Department says that up to this point the President needed no special authority—either constitutional or by specific statute—for moving troops into Alabama. They haven't intervened in anything.

But, it was explained, if new disorders break out the President could then decide whether to put the troops in Birmingham under authority of a specific law—Article 10, Section 333 of the U.S. Code—which goes back in history. It says: "The President can use troops or 'any other means' to suppress domestic violence in a state if —

"Hinders the execution of the laws of that state, and of the United States within the state, that any part or class of its people is deprived of a right, privilege, immunity or protection named in the Constitution and the constituted authorities of that state are unable, fail, or refuse to protect that right, privilege, or immunity, or to give that protection."

Under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution all citizens are guaranteed the right of equal protection of the laws.

But, despite the explanation of the Justice Department, that the President could decide whether to send troops into Birmingham if new rioting began, one thing plagued in any town across the great plains of America.

I have light blonde hair which I wear smoothly drawn into a twist at the back of my head. I am medium tall, and weight has never been a problem for me. If I am careful, I look well in my clothes. Neatness has always been my guide. Thanks to Aunt Bean who is of the nasty-clean persuasion. I am, at 28, a spinster, and no to the last three or four years. I have been quite happy about it. Aunt Bean would tell you — and she would be right — that I could have married. Perhaps any of those marriages would have worked out well.

Our neighborhood is one of somewhat large houses, with abundant grounds. A certain sort of people live in such houses, and the various age groups of our neighborhood gravitate toward each other and become friends. The Will Westleys — one son away at college — real estate. The Rick Hinton — one 10-year-old daughter — an attorney.

One evening in July Smokey strolled across the street to our place.

"I came over to ask you something," he said, puffing blue smoke around his head.

"Oh, What?"

"Well, I wondered if you might want to make me happy."

I didn't jump to any silly conclusions. I hampered, just then. To be going through one of my periods of being resigned to the fact that all I meant to Smokey was companionship.

I answered without looking around. "Well, that might be worth doing."

"There's a great deal of new construction work in town," he said. "I don't think you and Aunt Bean, any two women should be driving around late at night."

Now I turned to look at him.

"If you and Aunt Bean have to go to a meeting or something after dark, get yourself a man to go with you, will you or ride in somebody else's car."

I dropped to my knees. "Smokey, what have you got in mind?"

He took out his tobacco pouch. "Nothing specific. Just — there are a lot of strangers in town. And Aunt Bean is a good-looking woman."

"I don't like to be afraid of things," I pulled up a tuft of sour grass.

"I don't like to have you afraid, or even frightened," he stood up. "Or — hurt," he said over his shoulder as he strolled away.

seems obvious.

Kennedy must have already decided to send in the troops if rioting occurs again because he would lose face if he didn't after making the gesture of putting the troops into Alabama.

It can be argued the President hasn't necessarily made such a decision, that he could wait until after rioting started to determine whether it was so out of hand that local police couldn't — or wouldn't — cope with it.

Yet, if he held back the troops to see how bad the rioting was a number of people could be killed before he made up his mind. That, too, would be an embarrassment to him.

Therefore, it seems plain troops would be used immediately—under Article 10, Section 333—if rioting was renewed.

For this reason the very presence of the troops near Birmingham—although not in it—can be interpreted as a warning to Birmingham extremists not to start anything unless they want the troops in.

But in view of the constitutional provision that a President could use troops to restore domestic peace in a state—provided a legislature or governor asked for them—how could he justify using Article 10, Section 333, without such a request?

In this case, it would have to be on his own decision that Alabama law enforcement officers were unable, failed or refused to protect its citizens.

Article 10, Section 333, is rooted in American history, almost to the very beginning of the government. Presidents repeatedly have sent troops into a state to stop various disturbances—even though a governor protested. But consistently the excuse was to protect some federal law or function or uphold a federal court order.

President Eisenhower at Little Rock in 1957 and Kennedy at the University of Mississippi in 1962 used troops to stop mob violence which was an attempt to block a federal court order that Negroes be admitted to white schools. They relied on Article 10, Section 333.

There was a difference in May 1961, when mobs of white segregationists stoned and beat up a number of "Freedom Riders" going through Alabama on buses from Washington to New Orleans.

At that time the President — through his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy—sent more than 600 U.S. marshals into Alabama to protect the riders when Alabama police were slow to do so.

The Justice Department explained the action: to protect interstate commerce (bus transportation) and to see that "other federal rights are given due protection." The governor of Alabama at that time, John Patterson, protested, and, like Gov. Wallace now, said the action was unconstitutional.

The Justice Department didn't say publicly at the time it was acting under Article 10, Section

University to Get Swim Pool

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas has announced plans for construction of a swimming pool, student health center and band building. Total cost of the project will be $1 million.

333, but it can be said accurately this was the case.

If Kennedy uses troops to stop rioting in Birmingham it will — so far as this writer can learn — be the first time a president took such action when no specific federal law, court order or function was at stake. But, as in the Montgomery case, the government could say constitutional protections were.

Graduate Teenagers With A Hearty Party

A graduation party for teenagers should feature their favorite foods, and you can't miss with lots of well-seasoned hamburgers, potato salad and a variety of soft drinks.

Spark hearty hamburgers with the zest of Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning, and add more of the spice to Garden Potato Salad, a luscious mixture that includes fresh scallions, celery, cucumber, green pepper and radishes. For color, garnish iced tea or soft drinks with lime or orange slices.

An easy decorating trick is to roll the silverware in white paper napkins and fasten with ribbon and seals in school colors. They will make almost as big a hit as the real diplomats!

Tabasco Hamburgers

1 1/2 teaspoons Tabasco 3 pounds ground beef
1 1/2 cups tomato juice or milk 3 teaspoons salt

Add Tabasco to tomato juice or milk. Pour over ground beef, sprinkle with salt; mix well with fork or hands. Shape into 12 large patties. Pan broil in a lightly greased skillet, cooking about 8 minutes on first side and 6 minutes on second side.

Yield: 12 servings.

Garden Potato Salad

3 pounds potatoes (7 1/2 cups diced) 6 to 8 radishes, sliced
2 teaspoons salt 2 teaspoons salt
3 scallions, chopped 1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup diced celery 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 cup diced cucumber 2 tablespoons vinegar
1 green pepper, chopped 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco

Cook potatoes in skins until tender. Peel and dice. Add scallions, celery, cucumber, green pepper and radishes. Sprinkle with salt. Mix together mayonnaise, mustard, vinegar and Tabasco. Add to potato mixture. Mix lightly with a fork being careful not to break potatoes; chill.

Yield: 12 servings.

Two For The Grill

You can't go wrong and you can't do better than steak and potatoes for a gala barbecue. Get the best steak you can find and keep the seasoning simple. Ac'cent monosodium glutamate will bring out the rich steak flavor to perfection. Line your grill with aluminum foil for even heat control and quick clean-up afterwards. Hash brown potatoes cooked in foil alongside the steak are quick, easy and delicious. Keep decorative copper-colored salters and peppers by the grill and on the table.

A Great Steak

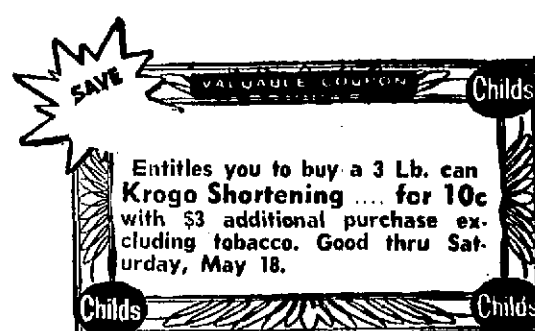

1 porterhouse or sirloin steak (about 1 1/2 inches thick)
2 teaspoons Ac'cent, divided
Salt
Pepper

Trim excess fat from steak. Slash fat edge to prevent curling. Place steak on aluminum foil lined grill. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon of the Ac'cent. Grill to desired degree of doneness, turning once and sprinkling with remaining Ac'cent. After grilling, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Yield: 4-6 servings.

Grilled Potatoes

1/2 package hash brown potatoes 1 tablespoon chopped chives
1/2 cup melted butter 1 teaspoon dill seed
1 tablespoon chopped parsley 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent

Simmer and drain potatoes according to package directions. Combine with remaining ingredients. Wrap tightly in 15 inch length of aluminum foil. Cook on grill 15 to 20 minutes, turning occasionally. Yield: 4 servings.

Melons Make A Souffle Salad

Souffle salads are particularly suitable for summer time as they can be prepared ahead of time, allowing you to get out of the kitchen early and relax with the rest of the family.

This melon souffle salad makes a refreshing light lunch, served with crackers and coffee. It also enhances more substantial meals and makes an attractive addition to a buffet table.

Melon Souffle Salad

- 1/2 honeydew melon
- 1/2 cantaloupe
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1 (3-ounce) package lime flavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup real mayonnaise
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Scoop out 6 balls from each melon half, using ball cutter or small spoon; reserve for garnish. Remove remaining pulp from shells; dice and measure. (No more than 2 1/2 cups should be used in salad.)

Pour boiling water over gelatin in bowl; stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add cold water, lemon juice, mayonnaise and salt; blend with rotary beater. Pour into freezing tray or metal loaf pan. Chill in freezing unit until firm about 1-inch from edge of pan but still soft in center, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Turn mixture into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy and thick. Fold in diced melon. Pour into 1-quart mold or individual molds. Chill in refrigerator (not freezing unit) until firm, about 45 to 60 minutes. Unmold. Garnish with melon balls. Serve with salad greens, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Pool-Cool Ice Cream Sodas Made In Moments

Summertime means soda time, and a wonderful time of year it is! The cooling and delightful beverage known as the ice cream soda has admirers in every age group. Remember your very first ice cream soda? What a wizard the man behind the soda fountain appeared to be! With a few simple ingredients, a stir of the long-handled spoon, a quick turn of the wrist with the ice cream scoop and presto! before you was a splendid frothy creation that merited your immediate and rapturous attention.

Recreate the soda magic of yesteryear at home this summer with modern ingredients from your pantry shelf. Quick chocolate- or strawberry-flavored mixes are the secret ingredient of an instant, homemade soda. They are the very same dry mixes your youngsters use for flavoring milk. Serve chocolate and strawberry ice cream sodas for a novel and refreshing summer dessert or snack. Quick, easy to make and oh, so good!

Quick Home-Made Sodas

For each soda, combine in glass:

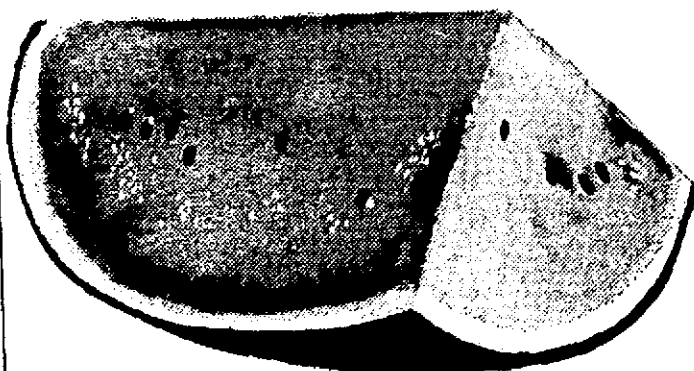

- 2 heaping teaspoons quick chocolate- or strawberry-flavored mix or quick strawberry-flavored mix
- 1/4 cup milk

Stir briskly until blended. Add a scoop of ice cream and fill slowly with chilled sparkling or soda water.

Astronauts Practice for Moon Shot

By JOHN WOODFIELD

BAITIMORE, Md. (AP) — Astronaut Alan Shepard gazed intently at the winking instrument panel before him.

A bright, red ball danced crazily on a screen in the upper left corner, registering the pitch, yaw and roll of his space vehicle. A miniature television screen to his right, immediately in front of the co-pilot, showed the moon's rough, crater-pitted surface growing ever larger as touchdown rapidly approached.

Shepard checked the instrument panel again. It was time.

Signaling the navigator to precede him, he crawled carefully under the co-pilot's seat into the after section of the mother ship, then through a flexible tube into the smaller vehicle that would take him out of the moon orbit and down on the surface of the moon itself.

The hatch was sealed, and the moon craft started the final phase of its journey.

The flight that Shepard and his two-man crew were making, however, was not in the black void of outer space. It began and ended at the Martin Company's Baltimore Division.

For here, situated in a room the size of a football field, is the most complete moon-flight simulator in the country.

The capsules themselves — both the mother ship and the smaller moon vehicle connected to it — are detailed mock-ups of the real thing.

The entire room is blacked out. In the mother ship, three huge, padded reclining chairs face the softly lighted instrument console, and the astronauts control their flight just as they will when the voyage is finally made — from blastoff to recovery. The simulated flight, just as its real-life counterpart, takes seven days.

In the capsule, the astronauts must maintain a strict schedule. Each man acts as pilot for only three consecutive hours.

When not in actual control, crew members either are on duty as copilot, sleeping, eating or relaxing in the "lounge," which is another big reclining chair in the rear of the capsule.

In the lounge, tape-recorded music from classical to Frank Sinatra vocals helps combat boredom.

Closed circuit television and hidden microphones record every movement and sound aboard the capsule.

A miniature television mounted in the control panel is used for visual guidance as the spacecraft closes with the moon. Actually, the view is a sand mock-up outside the building.

When a satisfactory lunar orbit is achieved, two of the astronauts crawl through a flexible metal tube into the moon vehicle. The hatch is sealed and the tube withdrawn into the mother ship to simulate detachment.

Once landed on the moon, the astronauts must blast off and rendezvous with the mother ship.

The moon vehicle itself can pitch, yaw and roll just as an actual spacecraft. Through a window, the pilot can see thousands of stars, thrown by projector on

Preminger Enlivens Social Science

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Leave it to Otto Preminger to enliven the social scene with a swinging capitalist affair for a couple of Communists.

The producer tossed an elegant party for Hollywood's smart set on the roof of the Beverly Hilton. The guests of honor: Ivan Piriev, president of the Soviet filmmakers association, and Lev Julidjanov, a prominent Russian director.

As an incidental matter, the party also saluted the end of filming on Preminger's latest movie, "The Cardinal," which was spelled out in carved ice that adorned the hors d'oeuvre table.

The Russians should have much to tell their fellow workers when they get back to Moscow. The meal was elegant, from the Trad-er Vic's Polynesian appetizers with cocktails to the dessert of giant strawberries, served with side dishes of sou cream and brown sugar.

The Russians seemed intrigued by the tribal customs of the Hollywood natives. They had been invited here as part of a Preminger people-to-people program; he had responded after having been the guest of Soviet film makers in Moscow.

Piriev, who occupies the curious position as producer and worker in the Soviet industry, commented through an interpreter that he found Hollywood film making much like that in his country—a bit bigger crews, perhaps.

He added that he and his comrade had seen and been impressed by "Judgment at Nuremberg," "Lawrence of Arabia" and "How a large screen. As he watches intently, he sees what he is seeking—the tiny, blinking light of the mother ship. The course is set.

If he has been accurate, the light becomes larger and larger. When the time is right, the vehicle is turned and the pilot rotates his chair so he can look through another aperture in the roof. Now he must guide the ship into contact with the main spacecraft.

In the simulator, a second mock-up of the mother craft is suspended from the ceiling. It can move in any direction. So, although the pilot actually is maneuvering his moon-raft, the mock-up of the mother ship responds.

If he is accurate, the two ships engage as they would in outer space.

Then it's back to the mother ship for the return journey to earth.

The purpose of the operation is to remove the kinks from the operation so when the actual moon-shot is made, the problems will be minimal.

C. F. Barbour technical coordinator of the moon-shot simulator, recalls that one pilot jettisoned 300,000 gallons of fuel on the launch pad. Another "bounced pretty hard when he landed on the moon."

At Martins, such miscalculations result in aborting the mission.

In the vast reaches of outer space, however, there can be no mistakes.

the West Was Won" during their visit here. He liked the Cinema technique in the latter and added predictably that the Soviet Union has its own Cinema process.

American hits in the Soviet Union? He mentioned, "Roman Holiday," "Lili," "Marty" and to a lesser extent, "War and Peace," an American-Italian production. He said that the Russians are getting ahead with their own, definitive "War and Peace," which will run four hours.

Nixon Takes Over New York Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 Republican presidential candidate, took title Tuesday to a Fifth Avenue apartment and became a neighbor of the man many think may be the 1964 GOP presidential candidate—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The purchase price was not disclosed, but the asking price for the cooperative apartment was $135,000. The maintenance cost will be about $10,000 a year.

Nixon's announcement that he will join a law firm here stirred speculation that he might try for a political comeback, but he denied it.

The Nixon apartment, like the others in the 13-story building at 810 Fifth Ave., covers a whole floor. It includes a library with fireplace, four bedrooms and four baths, plus maids' rooms.

The Nixon apartment is on the Food Sense Not Nonsense

Nibbling—No Monkey Business

There can be no more monkey business about nibbling than about a fourth grader clambering over a geodesic playground climber. With growing scientific support for smaller, more frequent meals for Americans, nutritionists caution:

—Calories should total the number you require to keep you to your ideal weight.

—Nibbles should furnish the nutrients you need and include these foods: Meat or an alternate, milk or cheese, fruits and vegetables, enriched or whole grain bread and other cereal foods.

Results of a recent study by Dr. Margaret Ohlson and her fellow researchers at the State University of Iowa may accelerate the trend away from the established three-meals-a-day routine. As one phase of a research project aimed at learning why young adult men are more subject to coronary heart disease than are young women, researchers compared food habits. Men, they learned, ate more food than women . . . ate more fat which furnished a higher percentage of their calories . . . consumed more protein.

One new angle was apparent: Men stuffed. They tended to eat huge quantities of food at the evening meal, then nibble until bedtime. The scientists questioned male wisdom in concentrating so many calories into this 4- to 6-hour time slot. Recent research, Dr. Ohlson pointed out, shows that men who eat in this fashion may have a higher level of a fatty substance in the blood called cholesterol—a finding suspect in heart disease—than do men who eat smaller, more frequent meals throughout the day.

A simple solution? Accelerate the trend toward nibbling in order to provide a steadier supply of all nutrients.

No Hiding Tension of Space Shot

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—As the second ticked away, one could feel the mounting tension at Cape Canaveral. It was in the voices of the television and radio commentators, in spite of their best efforts to be brisk and business-like. And it was inside the millions of people who for 24 hours had waited and watched to see the Faith 7 and its human cargo boosted into space.

Later, in the continuing reviews and recaps, on all three major TV networks, through the afternoon and evening, it was merely interesting to see—once again—a huge missile roar into the sky. By then we knew that the launching had been practically perfect and the capsule was in, as they said, "the textbook orbit." But watching it live was something else entirely, even after five other shoots. The viewers' palms were moist, his breath was short at the critical moment. Unfortunately, the television broadcast from the tiny, slow-scan camera inside the capsule, was so fuzzy that the uninitiated could identify little of anything. One gathered that it was the helmet and head of the astronaut at the upper left of the picture but it could have been any object. Maybe it will be better next time.

Throughout the day, the networks followed the flight's progress. There were bulletins on the half hour and there were printed news on the screens, otherwise occupied by the endless parade of time-killing light diversion. Thus we at home knew in remarkable detail the temperature inside the capsule, even inside the suit, the moment the astronaut tried some exercises, started some experiments and even when he decided to eat lunch.

CBS moved fast Wednesday, chopping approximately in half a scheduled hour-long "CBS Reports" and adding a quick postscript to its recent treatment of Rachel Carson's book "Silent Spring." It was broadcast Wednesday night within hours after release of a federal report on insecticides urging more study of their use and effects.

Miss Carson and her book were credited by commentator Eric Sevareid with starting the sharp controversy over the effects of modern chemical killers on the balance of nature and mankind itself. On the program, Miss Carson said she felt vindicated by the report. A spokesman for the chemical industry was given an opportunity to restate its position—that the insecticides are safe if used as directed.

It was smart, alert journalism. And it didn't hurt to edit a dull and meandering exploration of the pros and cons of federal farm subsidies.

Beautiful, Says Wife of Astronaut

By S. F. KELLUM

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"Beautiful."

That was the way Mrs. Gordon Cooper described the launch of her astronaut husband's mercury capsule at Cape Canaveral, Fla. today.

Mrs. Cooper and her daughters—Camala, 14, and Janita, 13—watched the launch in the privacy of the master bedroom at their home 25 miles east of Houston.

It was more than an hour later that Dave Schwartz, a public affairs officer at the Manned Spacecraft Center, left the ranch style home and gave newsmen Mrs. Cooper's one-word reaction.

Schwartz said Mrs. Cooper asked him to say nothing more in behalf of herself and the daughters.

He said the mother and girls went into the master bedroom 15 minutes before launch and were smiling when they returned to the den after it was certain the blast-off had been successful.

Just 30 minutes before launch they received a telephone call from Cooper from his capsule.

Schwartz would not give details of the telephone conversation but said the family appeared more relaxed while awaiting the start of the scheduled 34-hour space flight that had been the case Tuesday when radar trouble at Bermuda caused a postponement.

Shooting Is Blamed on North Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The United Nations Command today blamed a naval shooting incident off South Korea Saturday on a North Korean boat which it said opened fire on a U.N. Command patrol vessel.

The North Koreans claimed Tuesday that a U.S. gunboat attacked a North Korean fishing boat in the Yellow Sea Saturday evening and killed three fishermen. The Communists called a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission Friday, apparently to discuss the incident.

TOKYO (AP)—Red China and the Soviet Union finally have agreed to meet July 5 in Moscow to begin an attempt to iron out their ideological differences.

The Russians had suggested the meeting be held in mid-May. The Chinese proposed mid-June. There was no official explanation of the further delay, but Moscow observers believe the Russians want to conclude the meeting of the Soviet party's Central Committee—scheduled for June—before they meet the Chinese.

ROME (AP)—The Vatican pavilion at the 1964 New York World's Fair will cost an estimated $3 million, but the public will be admitted free, the fair's vice president Charles Poletti, said Tuesday night after a conference with Vatican officials.

He said voluntary contributions, largely from the United States, will finance the exhibit.

Poletti said the pavilion will include Michelangelo's statue of "The Good Shepherd" from Rome's Basilica of St. John Lateran.

Schwartz said Mrs. Cooper and the daughters will remain in seclusion and will make no appearances before newsmen until the end of the flight and Cooper's successful recovery.

They had three television sets turned on for today's launch.

Mrs. Cooper arose at 4:30 a.m. The girls, up until about 10 o'clock Tuesday night, slept until 6:05 a.m.

Chicken and Cake for Dad

On Father's Day, June 16th, pay tribute to the man in your life with a dinner cooked especially for the occasion. According to the Father's Day Council, chicken with cranberry sauce is the official main course for the occasion. The spotlight is on Chicken Breasts with Pecans, a dish so delectable it will be remembered long after the event. A personalized cake with Butterscotch Frosting rings down the curtain on the festive meal. Begin with store-bought layers, frost with handy butterscotch morsels. Melt 2 6-ounce packages butterscotch morsels and 2 tablespoons shortening in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat, stir in 1/4 cup light corn syrup and 2 tablespoons water. Cool and frost.

Chicken Breasts with Pecans

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 4 small whole chicken breasts | 1/4 cup finely diced celery |
| Lemon juice | 1/4 cup chopped onion |
| 6 tablespoons melted butter, divided | 3/4 cup chopped pecans |
| 3 cups toasted bread crumbs | 1 teaspoon salt |
| | 1/4 teaspoon pepper |
| | 1/4 cup water |

Brush chicken breasts on both sides with lemon juice and 2 tablespoons of the melted butter. Combine remaining 4 tablespoons butter with remaining ingredients; toss lightly. Make 4 mounds of stuffing and arrange on 4 squares of double thicknesses of aluminum foil; place on baking sheet. Place a whole chicken breast, skin side up, on mound of stuffing. Fold foil securely around chicken to make individual packages. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.), 40 minutes. Increase oven to moderately hot (400°F.). Fold back foil and bake 10 minutes longer, or until chicken is browned. Yield: 4 servings.

as well as the previously announced "Pieta."

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The West German government has arrested 11 East German journalists, including four who worked in West Berlin.

The Bonn government permits East Germans to live in West Berlin but does not recognize their Communist regime.

Officials said the arrests and raids on East German news and radio offices in major West German cities were made under a law banning the collection and dissemination of information detrimental to the state.

New Office Healthy Place to Earn Cash

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Compared to the sweatshops of the past, the modern business office would seem a healthy place to earn a dollar.

It is comfortable, air-conditioned and so well lighted one can work out a crossword puzzle on the job surreptitiously without danger of eye strain.

But for some reason most offices resembled battlefield aid stations. They are full of the walking wounded and incipient stretcher cases.

Naturally, many of the illnesses of the white collar worker are imaginary. He invents them to help pass the time. If you have ever labored in a paper clip salt mine, here are a few swivel chair hypochondriacs you may find familiar:

"Fridayitis" — This guy drawn his pay on Thursday so he can have a longer weekend to spend his money.

"Mondayitis" — Very popular with suburbanites this time of year. Also called "The Green Thumb Disease." Victims complain of dizziness and backstrain. Cause: Too much Saturday and Sunday gardening.

"Fridayitis-Mondayitis" — This fellow is mad at the corporation and phones in sick two days a week so he can look for a better job on company time.

"Two Buck Emacius" — The office gambler looks like he is suffering from a wasting disease. Actually he is merely suffering from starvation, because he loses all his money at the racetrack.

"Florence Nightingale Syndrome" — The boss' secretary is a mother hen who clucks constantly over the illness of others.

"Cleanliness Complex" — He has a phobia that everyone else in the place is trying to push their germs off on him. If you sneeze within 75 feet of him, he rushes to the company medical office, lins his throat sprayed, and lies down for an hour.

"Old Grumpy Himself" — Whenever the boss falls ill, the nature of his malady is regarded as top secret. But whatever it is, the only known cure is a week of golfing in Florida.

The trouble with office hypochondriacs is that when anyone comes down with a disease a doctor can actually diagnose, he crawls helplessly to work, even though he feels at death's door for fear everyone else will feel he is malingering.

The $5 million cost of this equipment is being provided by the Agency for International Development through the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO). CENTO members—Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan—are providing additional money and equipment. All airway installations are scheduled to be completed by July 1964. Accurate navigation is extremely important since the route crosses deserts as well as mountainous terrain with peaks rising to almost 19,000 feet. One U.S. airline, Pan American World Airways, flies over the entire route; six foreign lines cover all or portions of it.

LAST MONTH - IN HISTORY

Hard to Hide Boredom in Many Cases

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—As a man is known by his enthusiasms, so he equally gives himself away by what bores him.

To one who appreciates the real pleasures of boredom, the 20th century is a source of endless joy.

A constant climate—or a constant paradise—pall upon the palate. To stay human we need to dislike as well as like. We are fortunate in that probably never before in history has there been so many things to give us a big fat yawn.

Here's one man's list:

All New York Yankee baseball fans.

Shaving every morning.

Musical alarm clocks.

Sonorous-voiced radio and television announcers who intone the news as if doom were in the sad-die—and riding mankind.

Any good-looking girls under 50 who get up and offer me a seat on a crowded bus because I look so old and worn.

Teen-age boys who have a two-foot fox tail hanging from each handlebar of their bicycles.

Literary showoffs who never read a book unless it's on a best-seller list.

Literary showoffs who refuse to read any book that does become a best-seller.

Old soldiers who at reunions insist on telling how they won the second World War when I want to tell how I won it.

Any movie that costs more than a dollar—and any Broadway show priced above $4.40.

Roadside hamburger and hot-dog stands built to rival the Taj Mahal in splendor.

All able-bodied doormen under 65 years of age.

Airmail stamps that don't have enough glue to make them stick to the envelope.

Litterbugs who travel 50 miles to a beach just to find a place to leave an old orange peel.

Overnight, 11-Year-Old Success

Any telephone number with more than seven digits.

Young couples who act on a public park bench as if they were Antony and Cleopatra floating down the Nile on a barge.

Cocktail parties at which the guests show each other new judo holds after the second martini.

Talkative barbers who think Milton Berle is slipping—and that they can take his place as a stand-up comedian.

People who push the up-button in an automatic elevator just as you lumber up to the door.

Practical jokers of any and every kind.

Bearded young beatniks who think Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was a bewhiskered old fraud simply because he wrote verse the ordinary man can understand.

Cops who can write traffic tickets with either hand.

Airline hostesses who let lady passengers chain-smoke cigarettes, but want to throw a middle-aged male off the plane if he tries to light up a teeny-weensy little old cigar.

Furor Over the Truman Statue

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Plans to erect a 12-foot bronze statue of former U.S. President Harry S. Truman in this capital of ancient art are causing a furor.

playing the same kind of music that now has all the experts flipping.

In Las Vegas, Hirt and his horn were heard by Dinah Shore's producer, who booked him.

"And that was it," the 300-pound, bearded musician said. "We went from there to Ed Sullivan and then to all the shows. The clubs all over the country began to open up. It was the combination of television and Las Vegas that did something that all that time in New Orleans couldn't do."

He'll be blowing his horn Sunday night on the Ed Sullivan Show—for the umpteenth time. And just for a little variety, he'll try a little singing, too.

Each of the seven floors of the Basin Park Hotel, Eureka Springs, can be reached without climbing the stairs or riding an elevator, because the position of the building against the mountain makes every floor a ground floor.

Some Athenians don't want the statue at all. Some think it should have been done by a Greek sculptor.

The statue, to be put up in one of Athens' main streets May 29, commemorates the Truman Doctrine of 1947. Truman's administration came to Greece's aid when Communists threatened to take over the country.

The statue, a gift of the American Hellenic Progressive Association, was done by U.S. sculptor Felix de Weldon.

At Independence, Mo., the former president said he had no comment, but asked about the Athens project recently he said he felt that statues should not be erected until the person being honored is dead.
